Andrew C. Eckdahl, columnist and author of "Behind the Eckdahl," has returned to the Kentucky Kernal, as he has been elected to the position of Editor. A few of his readers as a "good writer. His job is something along the line of that of the Kernal except that he either takes or writes the material. His humble opinion is that his last column in the Kernal, appearing last week, was one of the best. By his own admission, his "stunt" from "Wake of the West" appearing in the Chicago "Tribune" was one of the best. We, therefore, we reprint a few of his columns.

FINALE
And so we come to the end of a column and a year of so called "news." So we wrap up the type writer, throw the exchanges in the trash, and close shop. But wait, we forgot something. Senior, best of luck. WPA material, and if it's all right, we'll have a little of this as I had writing all year—well, with a few exceptions, anyway, so long, both of you!

At Morehead he has generally been considered an aggressive and a capable manager. It is considered by those familiar with the situation that the MSTC's aspiration for the presidency of the College has been primarily responsible for his subversive activities. Members of the Board of Regents are to be highly displeased by their expression of confidence in the administration as shown by their acceptance of the President's recommendations.
